

Dear Cheryl,

I really liked your exhibition and it taught a lot to me.

Even if I didn't participate, it was really interesting.

Now, I know how much segregation and slavery were horrible and savage.

What shocked me the most was the way that white people treated black people as objects and I found really unfair Rosa Parks's story and also sad.

I liked really much the golden chicken bones. It were original.

Thank you for teaching me all this.

Bye,

Elisa.

Hi Cheryl ! My name is Rifat I was present for your exhibition
I never knew that the newspaper about KKK was written in Paris.
I had never realized how much colored people suffered
What shocked me the most was the way the colored people was attached by chains
I found really unfair To do that for colored people

Hello, my name is Remy Mousson. I was happy to learn a lot of information on the black people.

I never knew that Nelson Mandela was the first black president in South Africa. I had never realized how much it was difficult for a black person president. Now I know that Nelson Mandela was the first black president of South Africa . I was surprised to learn it was only in 1994 that a black president was elected. Was shocked me the most was the way that they attached the slaves. I found it really cruel that they chained the slaves.

Thank you for your intention

Dear Cheryl,

First thanks for your kindness and your humour during the intervention. I think it was very interesting and complete even if it is a tragic subject to talk about. Your personal collection is very rich and there were a lot of different objects and documents. I learnt a lot about segregation thanks to your collection like how much it was painful for black people and all the problems that black people had everyday. I hope that you liked talking with our class.

Goodbye Lavalle T ea

Dear Cheryl Ann Boden,

I really liked your exhibition, it was very interesting, I learned a lot even if I slept in the end so I'm very sorry but I listened to everything except the end about the Black Panthers.

I saw some objects/ things interesting like the old books, the bones, the magazines or the posters and the music that you put in the computer.

I like this exhibition because you brought us a lot of very interesting documents and what I like is that they all have a story or a message to tell.

So thank you for everything, I think I have learnt a lot in one hour about the segregation and slavery so thank you, thank you, thank you and thank you to come.

Imane, a student of 3e6 PS: I love your fashion style

Dear Cheryl,

I never knew that the black slaves died so young. We saw in a document a cemetery with black children died at 6 month.

I have never realize how much blacks were separated and how much they were poorly treated.

I was shocked to learn that some people wante to kill negroes just because they were black.

Bye,

Jules Zanker.

Hello Miss Chery or Ann Bolden

I was surprised to learned that Angela Davis was wanted by the FBI and I was happy to found out that she's actually not wanted and she's an univercity teacher.

I had never realized how much the segregation was important in U.S.A. Now I know how much colored people suffered during the segregation.

I never knew that Black Panthers was a political organisation, I think there is only a U.S football team

Good bye peace

Hello

I learnt a lot of things with your exhibition.

I never knew that the paratroopers had to protect some black students. I ad never realized how much the K.K.K. was cruel. Now I understand why some black people were violent with white, as the black panther. I was surprised to learn that an escape from K.K.K. was an international event. What shocked me the most was the way that the slaves were considered like animals. I was happy to found that the president Einsenhower protected the black who went to white school. I found segregation really unfair.

Thanks again for this exhibition.

Hi Cheryl! I'm Caroline

I had never realized how much segregation was hard for the black people. Found it really unfair to do that.. What shocked me the most was the way that racist people treated black people. I was happy to visit this exhibition . I learnt so many things

Thank you for the exhibition

Good bye!

Hello Miss Cheryl Ann Bolden

I never knew that Thomas Jefferson was the American ambassador in Paris

I had never realized how much segregation was powerful

I was surprised to learn that the lifespan was really short

What shocked me the most was the way that how the slaves were sold

I was happy to find out that many people tried to find a solution about segregation

I found it really cruel to create segregation

Bye Basile Kerestedjian

hello

when I saw the many things that were on the table. I was surprised by the bones on the chain and sure the many documents.

There was an old book with yellow pages.

Thanks for speaking slowly and explaining with passion.

And the fact that Thomas Jefferson and Angelica Davis have a relationship shocks me.

Thanks again for this exhibition.

PEACE

Hello,
I'm Veronique from 3°1 at Buffon
I'm going to tell You what I've learn about your exhibition

I had never realized how much your infancy was terrible. I found it cruel that black people was killed and buried. I was surprised to learn Angela Davis was arrested by the FBI. So today she is a professor in a university in California. I was happy to touch the taxes' paper, the cream to have a white skin , handcuffs, and a lot of other things(which was beautiful)
I was happy to found out stories about Jefferson'wife .
I spent a great moment
Thank you vero vero

Hello,Chery ! I'am Louka and I listend to your exhibition. I remember the best person's for me are : Barack Obama, his wife and Thomas Jefferson. The best document I remember is the chains of a slave because he is very moving. And the fac's that I remember the most are the KKK and the Blacks Panthers because the Blacks Panthers are very brave.
I found segragation is very cruel.

Hello miss Chery Ann Bolden,
I never knew that Thomas Jefferson was the ambassador of USA in Paris . I had never realized how heavy the chains are. I was surprised to learn that slaves were sold like horses.
Iwas happy to found out that Angela Davis went to Algeria.
Good Bye Miss.

Hello Cheryl!

I was glad to meet you and listen to your stories.

I was suprised to learn that racist children-books existed, so that people could teach racis to their children. What shocked me the most was the way that people were racist and didn't give a chance to black people to go to university, for exemple. I never knew that slaves were not allowed to learn how to read and write. I found it really sad that slaves were in the same line as horses in the taxes. I was happy to find that settlers were not all cruel with their slaves like Thomas Jefferson.

Thank you for taking time to read my message.

Bye!

to me

Hello Cheryl, I was happy to discover your works and to listen your stories about slaves.

I never knew that people had to write how many slaves they had. I had never realized how much segregation was unfair, black people were very brave. Now I understand how slaves's conditions were horrible. I was surprised to learn that black women had foundation to be more white. I was happy to found out that there were a lot of black people who were very brave and famous. I found it really sad that white peopkle don't accept black people because of their skin.

The person that I remember best is the slave of Thomas Jefferson, I found that she was very brave.

The document that I remember best is a document where persons write how many lands, horses and slaves they had.

Thank you to taking time to read my message.

Bye !

Dear Cheryl

First I thank you for the conference of thursday. I liked it very much, I learnt many things. I found very intresting the disposition of your exhibition.

There were many things : magazines, objects, pictures... I remember the bones and the chainz on the table, there was a cream to whiten skin and I remember a magazine : « Black and White» about the equality of skins colors, and a cloth with Nelson Mandela. I remember a reference to Thomas Edison : The lights bulbs.

In conclusion, I was very interested by your intervention in our class, thank you for coming

Bye

Hello

It's Yasmine BOUDJADI from 3°1 at Buffon.

I'm going to tell you what I've learnt from your exhibition that you did last week.

I never knew that Thomas Jefferson had children with a young slave;
I had never realized how much black people were getting their skin white;
Now I know how slaves were treated before the abolition of slavery;
I was surprised to learn that people found a graveyard full of slaves;
What shocked me the most was the way that slaves were treated;
I was happy to find out that some people were fighting against slavery;
I found it really unfair that black and white people were segregated.

Thank you for this amazing exhibition. I've learnt a lot and I hope we will meet again in the near future.

Yasmine BOUDJADI

Dear Cheryl,

I really liked your conference, it taught me many things like, there were taxes for the slaves, I was surprised to learn that some slaves could be recognized for their intelligence or could buy their freedom. There were many things about the black peoples in America, I remember particuly of the action of Rosa Parks who refused to give here seat in a bus. I found it really sad that black people could because they don't want to be opressed. What shocked me the most was the way that the policemen treated demonstrators. I had never realized how much the ideas of Martin Luther King impact his country in his life and after.
Thanks for the exhibition.
